EL6013 Course Syllabus

Grading Policy: The grade for this course will be based mainly upon the mid term exam and the final exam. The mid term exam will cover lectures 1-4, and the final exam will cover lectures 5-7. The grades for the two exams will be averaged to arrive at a numerical grade for the course. Submission of homework solutions is also required. If homework solutions are not submitted in a timely manner, according to the schedule, there will be a penalty of between 5 and 10 percent on the final numerical grade. The exams are taken in the traditional way by paper and pencil, at any location convenient to you, provided the exam can be proctored. This can be at any Poly location, or at a library near you, for example. See additional information below for more on this. I would prefer that you submit the homework in electronic form via the homework links for the individual lectures on the website (scanned written solutions will be fine), but if this will be an inconvenience for you then you can fax them to me at (631)755-4404. The mode of submission is not that important, so do it in any way that is convenient. Please feel free to ask me any questions (technical questions or process questions) you may have by contacting me at voltz@rama.poly.edu or at (631)755-4215. I encourage you to ask questions before the difficulty becomes a problem. I can usually address technical questions via email, but if necessary we can discuss by telephone also. Both methods have worked well in the past. Good Luck, and don’t hesitate to contact me with questions.

Additional Information: The default email address for this course is your poly.edu email and this is the one you should use for this course. If you will need to take the exams at a non-Poly location, this may be a good time for you to start thinking about where you might take them. A couple of weeks prior to the exams you will be alerted that you need to fill out an online form to request a specific location for a proctored exam. On the form you can put the name and contact information for your local library, for example, and ePoly will try to make arrangements with them to have your exam proctored.
